

What sort of executive goes surfing for a new challenge?

When you start tapping into taps.com you'll find the answer is often the most promising of the next generation of high level appointees.

Primarily EU based graduates, offering professional, technical and IT skills, these are the job applicants who make a point of being ahead of the field.

They value the speed and convenience of conducting their next job search via taps.com - even if it's just to see who's hiring.

They appreciate the confidentiality - and the interactive nature of the taps.com service that can store their precise job specifications until exactly the right challenge arrives.

If you'd like to find out more about the many different services taps.com offers to employers and job seekers - call now for further information on 0171 493 1997.

Alternatively email: frontdesk@taps.com

Or tap into our website: <http://taps.com>

taps.com

Start tapping into taps

